New Process of Pre-Seeding Gives Promise of Doubling Yields Of Crops In Western Canada

Visions of being able to double the yield of Western Canada crops under existing weather conditions, by pre-seeding treatment of grain were outlined by James Watt, outgoing teacher and biology student at the University of the Highlands, when he was one of the members of the Canadian Society of the Pre-Seeding Experiment. The pre-seeding treatment, known as "pre-seeding," is said to be the most effective in the soil. Applied to limited experiments at the University of the Highlands, it resulted in an increase of 100 per cent of cereal and grain yields as compared with the control. Watt said that the pre-seeding treatment is a simple one, and can be applied to all crops. It is a simple matter of applying a small amount of seed to the soil before the main crop is sown. Watt said that the pre-seeding treatment is a simple one, and can be applied to all crops. It is a simple matter of applying a small amount of seed to the soil before the main crop is sown.

These two seedling vines were the attention of Mr. Watt some time ago and he determined to make a series of experiments on the university in the Highlands. The experiments were conducted in the garden, where artificial light was used to grow up seedlings. The results of the experiments were that the seedlings which were treated with the pre-seeding treatment were found to be more robust and to have a higher yield than the control.

The "various" process, as outlined by Mr. Watt, consisted of using the seeds in a dark room where the temperature was maintained at from one to three degrees above the normal. During the time the seeds were kept in the dark room, germination was not made to the seeds, though it appeared when the seeds were placed in the soil. It began to grow more rapidly.

People in the Arctic suffer from cold so much more often than elsewhere because they have learned the secret of dressing rightly. Dr. J. A. Dr. Crawford described the conditions under the Arctic, where the cold is made more bearable by the use of proper winter clothing. U. S. REMOVES ALL RESTRICTIONS AGAINST SEEDING

Washington. — Facing a wheat shortage if another drought already threatened occurs, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace announced removal of all restrictions on plantings of spring wheats in the United States.

This action followed quickly after the year's first crop report showed farmers intend to plant 17,667,000 acres of spring wheat (compared with 18,521,000 acres planted in 1934).

The drought quite definitely continues in most of the west, Wallace said, adding that a survey of the situation led the administration to the conviction that in view of the possibility of another drought which would seriously affect the output of wheat the government and farmers have a duty to protect consumers against a wheat shortage.

will plant an additional 800,000 to 1,200,000 acres as a result of the action and would harvest between 14,000,000 and 20,000,000 bushels more Spring wheat is normally

Any surplus of wheat which may accumulate will be taken care of by the ever-normal granary plan, reserving the storing of reserves to be held against lean years he said.

Drought conditions are reported prevalent in the western parts of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Secretary Wallace said that while wheat supplies had been reduced to about normal some of the factors which contributed to the 1932 surplus, such as the loss of foreign markets had been removed.

An ordinary Loon, fully matured and second in wing and flesh, is worth twenty dollars to a gardener, according to Prof. A. F. Covary of the University of Toronto. RE-ARMAMENT OF GERMANY IS LEAGUE PROBLEM

LEAGUE PROBLEM

Germany's re-armament and the whole question of preventing future one-sided repudiation of international treaties was thrust squarely on the doorstep of the council of the League of Nations.

Clarifying the hitherto confused picture of just what procedure would be followed here, French Foreign Minister Pierre Laval submitted a draft resolution on behalf of the governments of Great Britain, France and Italy, and on his own behalf backed it up with a strongly-worded denunciation of German re-armament and abrupt repudiation of Great Britain and Italy supported the French spokesman in an uncertain terms, but Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland promptly challenged the draft's proposed strengthening of the league covenant and with a secretly-voiced reference to the Franco-Russian accord m/m Poland wondered whether certain suggested agreements were not calculated to prejudice, rather than foster the peace of eastern Europe.

The draft resolution was couched in such vigorous terms in its expressions that Germany had failed to keep her obligations and in denouncing unilateral repudiation of treaties generally, so as to bring immediately from Berlin semi-official word that if it is approved as it stands the league statemen might as well abandon entirely efforts to get Germany back into the league.

"We, who possibly best of all citizens of the empire," Senator Meighen stated, "know of the blessings that flow from the occupancy of the thems by a person of the character and great common sense of His Majesty the King, are particularly pleased to offer our congratulations. To us who believe that we are of a country wherein the best forms of democratic government have been born, it is a matter of extreme gratification that at a time when the institutions of democracy have been subjected to a continuous and ferocious challenge, as never before in their long history, our institutions, in the full flush of their democracy, are presided over by a monarch such as becometh the British Empire."

"We all join heartily in wishing long life and happiness to His Majesty King George, to his gracious consort, and to members of the royal family - Senator Dandurand said.

Without a hint of color, most new cars available in St. Louis, in all colors except green, bright blue and orange, and prohibition royal red, are lacking in one way or another. This was announced by Dr. George D. Sautel, assistant professor of zoology at Washington University, who has been studying the effect of cigarette smoke on the poison. He guarded it to solve a problem known as "Vanderbilt's disease," a case of use in radio engineering.

This machine, Powell pointed out, can be solved only with the greatest difficulty by mathematicians, with a large margin for error. It is called the "marched machine," it was child's play in 30 days the machine, using only a small part of the machine workings had the answer—and with an 80 machine.

The machine is approximately 50 feet long, six feet wide and three and one-half feet high. The first of the kind was constructed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by Dr. Vannevar Bush, but it was only four years, in contrast to the only one in "Continental," and the game gauge its range.

The university plans to place the machine at the disposal of American industry.

LOCAL NEWS

The June meeting of the United Church W.M.S. will be held at the home of the President, Mrs. William J. McLean, on Tuesday afternoon, June 18th, at 2 o'clock.

A meeting of the Port Beaulieu branch held recently. It was moved by the members that the following resolutions be presented to the Town Council for their consideration and action:

- (a) That the public should be asked to interfere with the Port Beaulieu branch.
- (b) That every Province be given the authority to keep the public away from the beach.
- (c) That every Province be given the authority to ask anyone who is on a film to help the Port Beaulieu branch.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Montgomery left Monday night for San Francisco, where they will visit relatives there.

Dr. W. H. Alexander of the University of Alberta, will speak at the annual U.P.A. Sunday on June 18th in the Port Beaulieu United Church at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. A. McLean of Vancouver, who is visiting in Edmonton this week, spent Tuesday with Mrs. G. Hugh. While in town, Mrs. McLean will, upon Tuesday night, give a play at the Port Beaulieu branch.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashton and Mr. and Mrs. G. Mead went to Calgary over the weekend, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Murray.

Some persons or persons with a wandering disposition did much damage to the plants in the Beaulieu Theatre immediately before the children's concert arranged for last night. By the way, the children's concert was a success, by packing the wires with plants of spruce and paper. The Police are investigating and it is hoped the culprit will be found.

The Police are also investigating a number of thefts which have been reported recently, especially at the elevators in town.

JOHNSTON LEAD
the winning ways. On Sunday, June 16th, at North Edmonton they defeated the North Edmonton Hawks by 13 to 5.

Harvey Lamont who contributed two home runs and three batters almost made a third home run, being thrown out at the plate after making a mighty hit. Before playing the first seven innings for the Port and Turner the last two, both of them, were thrown out at the plate. The entire team gave a fine exhibition.

This makes seven wins in a row for them being away from home. There is no doubt we have a team that is better than any we have had in years and their playing deserves better money than the home team. It is hoped there is a fine game in between the future game as a whole team.

The crowd at the first two home games were very small, but there was a good one at the game on June 16th. The spectators at the three games, however, were much smaller than they ought to be. Unless there is a very considerable increase in the collection, it will be impossible to carry on the club, which will be a pity considering the size of the club they are playing.

Many fans do not stop to consider the cost of running a team. Balls have to be bought, the team must be paid, but broken and must be replaced, there are expenses incurred in travelling to games played away from home, many have been spent on the grounds and the stand and there are other expenses, put the collection at the three home games have been just about sufficient to pay for the balls used. This must continue and the management of the club is faced with an alternative of making a change for admission to the games or disbarring the team unless better support is forthcoming. The matter is strictly up to the fans. They like to see the game. If they are worth seeing, they can worth paying to see. Let us see a good response to this appeal.

The management regrets that a large number of young people who attend the games, have no consideration for people who are contributing towards the club's funds and persist in interfering with the more experienced view of the games and making a mess of the game.

These young people have been welcomed to the game, but, unless they are more responsible in the future, effective steps will be taken to stop them.

St. George's Congregation Held Farewell Party

Last Tuesday evening, July 2nd, the congregation of St. George's Church met at the Varsity for the purpose of saying "farewell" to Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Bell, who are moving to Fort McMurray, Alberta, where they will reside for the time being.

Mr. Bell has been in the service of the bank for more than twenty years. Originally hired for the work by the late Bishop Proulx of Calgary, he has served under three Bishops and a good many vicars. His faithful work, so quietly unobtrusive, has proved invaluable to the congregation of St. George's.

The Vicar, in a few well chosen words, expressed the feelings of the congregation to Mr. and Mrs. Bell with a club and Mrs. Bell with an evergreen tree, as tokens of the loving interest in which they had been the parishioners of St. George's Church.

After enjoying a delightful supper, supplied by the ladies of the congregation, the meeting closed with singing of "Auld Lang Syne".

No evening service.

Services from Edmonton to his home in North Battleford, Rev. Father Doherty, spent a day here with Mr. and Mrs. Bell.

The last evening of Rev. Wm. Bell's service here was held at the Varsity. The service was held at the Varsity. The service was held at the Varsity.

Mr. Bredt took the view the only way to assure that all government assistance would find its way to the producer was by the method provided in the bill, which gives the farmer a monopoly of marketing the crop and would do away with future selling entirely.

Way Is Being Prepared For Coming To Close Home

The tram-canada alley will be a reality within a couple of years if the appropriation made for civil engineering in the representative and senate brought down in parliament is applied by another vote in the next two years. What is being done now, is to prepare the way physically. The question of the tram and its nature and extent will be a matter of policy to be determined by the government.

It is G. W. White, assistant minister of the Interior, who is in charge of the tram, he says "I am sure, the tram, however, will be built at the University in Kingston, Ontario."

Plumage, Antennae's Work Being Completed By His Widow
The incident of the making of a map of India, begun more than 10 years ago by the famous astronomer, Plumage, is being completed by his widow.

Plumage, who was the master of the "port of the stars," wrote 15 letters to his wife in 1890, in which he explained the work. The astronomical work which she was to do in a garden which he had bought for her in India, was to be done by his widow.

Three Hundred Years Ago Canada Was Literally A One-Horse Country

Shortly three hundred years ago the province known as Canada was, in point of truth, a one-horse country, writes Adam Smith in his History of the Province of New Brunswick. At the time of the settlement of the province, the only horse in the country was the one that carried the mail. The first mail was carried by a horse named "Old Nick," which was the only horse in the country at the time.

Champlain, the founder of Quebec, in 1608 did bring over cattle from the island of St. Lawrence. In 1611 he brought over a horse named "Old Nick," which was the only horse in the country at the time. The horse was named "Old Nick" because it was the only horse in the country at the time.

Historically the British had no horses in Canada. The first horse was brought to Canada by a Frenchman named "Old Nick," which was the only horse in the country at the time.

The French Canadian horse of the 17th century was a high reputation, but for 180 years was considered the best horse in Canada. The horse was named "Old Nick," which was the only horse in the country at the time.

It is Canada's horses that are in great demand on account of their good looks. The horse was named "Old Nick," which was the only horse in the country at the time.

Regular Aeroplane Service Across the Atlantic Appears To Be Nearing Realization

Predictions by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell that shortly after the Wright brothers made their memorable first flight that regular service across the Atlantic would be a reality are being realized.

The present government appears to be leaning toward the realization of a more important part of the prophecy, as the Air Corps Department is reported to have plans for a regular service may yet for a landing field at Sydney.

It is believed that Sydney is generally favored as the terminus on the Atlantic coast.

Word from Montreal to the effect that work is being rushed toward completion of the trans-continental service that European countries could stand would be less than three and a half days from New York to Montreal via the Atlantic.

Single unengaged seats are now being sold for the service from Montreal to approximately 50-cent distance as part of a general improvement of the service.

Should the transatlantic service be developed it is believed Montreal will be the main center of the service, with connections to other cities.

Approximately 25,000 men have been sent to the front in the last few months.

Sydney's city council reported Mayor E. H. Hughes that the city is prepared to accept the service.

Canadian Commission on the subject of the service is being held in Ottawa.

After 50 days of half-hearted preparation, the Canadian Commission on the subject of the service is being held in Ottawa.

Disappointment of residents who were expecting a regular service is being reported by commission plans.

It is not a bad thing that Dr. W. C. C. of Montreal, Ont., told about the use that got away from him.

The year 1915 was an exceptionally healthy one in the United States and Canada, according to the latest records, which show the lowest death rate on record for that year.

"John," said the physician's wife as she moved across on a heavy rug, "you see a lot of old people in the drug store when you come back for the bottle you're keeping."

According to the League of Nations estimates 2,000,000 persons die of starvation in all parts of the world in 1931. 1,000,000 in 1934 estimated number for lack of adequate food. At least 100,000,000 of the world's total population of about 2,000,000,000 are unable to provide themselves with sufficient food. If these who lack means to eat sufficient to maintain health and be supplied with a minimum standard, there would inevitably be no problem of surplus wheat or other farm products.

Scientists Say This Year Will Bring More Sunspots And Trouble May Result

Crops should be smaller, people have trouble and cities may be hit in 1935, that is the prediction of a study made by a group of the sun last year.

With long-range forecasts, astronomers have studied sunspots for several centuries and by year they estimate sunspots, sometimes as few as one and sometimes as many as 100,000, on the sun in 1935. The prediction is based on the study of the sun's activity in 1934.

The sun itself will not be moving in 1935. The sun's motion is not the cause of the trouble that may come in 1935. The sun's motion is not the cause of the trouble that may come in 1935.

Citizens Mourn The Death of King George V

Between three and four hundred citizens of this community joined in a special memorial service at the Empire Theatre on Tuesday, Jan. 28th.

The Rev. C. G. Brown, Minister of the Gospel, presided over the service. The service was held in the theatre and occupied the front section. Behind them were rows of benches for the ladies and a large group of citizens. The service was a most impressive one, with a choir of various church members, which gave a splendid rendition of the music under the able direction of Mr. A. H. Watt. Mrs. R. Brown acted most capably as organist. Mr. F. B. Baker, M.A., represented the Government and the three local churches. The Rev. C. G. Brown read the scriptures and offered up special prayers. The Rev. C. G. Brown gave the address, the text of which follows:

The Farm Problem For 1936

At this time of the year farm owners, farm operators and others interested in agricultural production are anxiously giving a great deal of thought and attention to the all-important problem of what to raise and how much to produce during the 1936 season.

There was when this problem, if it was a problem at all, was a comparatively simple one. All that was necessary to do was to divide the land evenly prepared and the additional acreage to be prepared in the spring into two portions, one was to be sown in wheat and the other to be sown with some provision for a small plot for vegetables for household use. In those days there were two or three standard varieties of wheat and oats and the farmer had to plan in advance which of them he would raise, and when the spring came to go ahead and sow it. Having done this, his chances of reaping a fair crop yielding him a reasonable return for his labor were pretty good.

But these days are gone and probably gone forever. During the course of the past two decades, the problem of what to raise and how much of it has become more complex with each succeeding year, and today the question becomes with so many complications and ramifications as to make the situation of a farmer and the success of the producer's production more complex than the thought of a distant prospect of it is reasonably satisfactory answer to be the outcome.

If the farm operator in the present position wants to eliminate the guesswork from his farming season's activities, he must not only be an expert observer of the soil and surroundings, but he must also be a student of a scientist, an economist and a meteorological expert. In other words he must become a "man of science."

When preparing his plan for the year's work the farmer not only has to take into consideration the condition of his land, the state of the availability and preparation for various types of crops, the probable availability of the land of seed he would like to use, the nature and extent of the land, but also various crops and varieties may be subjected to deterioration and loss by insect pests and diseases, the probable effect of prospective weather conditions on these crops, the availability of nutrient in the soil required by different types of crops, the probable demand for the resultant crops in the local and world markets and various other factors. For each of these, must be determined in the farmer's plan "his own circumstances."

Many of these questions the farmer, because of his own circumstances and local conditions must decide for himself with very little assistance from outside sources, but fortunately he is still available for him to be able to weigh probabilities and prospects of the effect of market trends, market conditions, national policies and the future extent of his international relations and relations on his intended activities, but even the information available on these factors can only be a guide, subject as they are and more particularly in recent years, to great rapid change.

One of the most valuable of these guides, entitled "The Agricultural Situation and Outlook, 1936" has just been issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture with the co-operation of the Department of Trade and Commerce. The information it contains is compiled by the sub-committee on the agricultural outlook of the National Advisory Committee on Agricultural Services.

The government pamphlet contains a careful and concise survey of agricultural conditions as they existed in Canada in 1935, together with industrial conditions as they affected agriculture, immediately and indirectly, and the prospective outlook of agriculture for 1936, including some specific conclusions which cannot fail to be of material aid to every farmer who reads it.

As the foreword to this 32-page bulletin says: "This annual review of the position of Canadian agriculture contains basic information which will assist farmers in planning their business operations in 1936. It is, of course, impossible to take into consideration drastic changes in international affairs which might develop before the close of the year. This report, however, presents an analysis of the factors most likely to affect farmers in the coming year."

A particularly valuable feature of the report is the summarized conclusions published by the sub-committee with respect to each of the important cereal grains and the several divisions of livestock, together with the reasons which lead up to these conclusions.

One who reads the bulletin cannot fail to be impressed with the fact that, generally speaking, the position of agriculture has shown improvement in the past year and that the factors in support of further improvement in 1936 are material, but it should be pointed out that the farmer who is confident and intelligently studying the situation in the future who is in the best position to take advantage of this perspective continuing upward trend.

The pamphlet should be in the hands of every farmer in the province and is worthy of study by all who are interested in the welfare of agriculture in the west and that means every citizen of the three provinces.

Anyone who has crossed to North America in an ordinary manner in a regular steamer when the Atlantic was in one of its latitudes will be amazed or shocked, according to the impression, by the conditions in what is to be done for the comfort of passengers in the Queen Mary.

Perfumed air will be available for the ladies who can also, by a flick of the controlling lever, rid their rooms of cigarette smoke. The air in the cabins and saloons will be purified every three minutes, while in the 20 public rooms the atmosphere will be continually changed.

The service to which the tremendous change that has taken place since the coming of the "hurry hury" in the Atlantic ferry.

The Britannia had a rough voyage, and Dickens in a number of a letter to John Forster which was reprinted from "American Notes," says: "I have never been in the same since the first day, the water, the smell, and the claustrophobic feeling intolerable." That was within six days not from Liverpool.

In the "Notes" the novelist says: "It was not exactly comfortable." "It was not exactly comfortable." "It was not exactly comfortable." "It was not exactly comfortable."

In a formal address at Calgary on the latest post outlook for the energy sector, R. L. Donohue in charge of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Laboratory at Lethbridge said that the grain-energy outlook in Alberta was more optimistic than in the past since 1952. At the present time there were three areas of very severe limitation, the total country being smaller than in 1952. The largest of these extended from Three Hills to Medicine Hat, the second from Calgary to Youngstown, and the third on the Bow. Also, there were several areas of very limitation, one extending from Medicine to Nisku and one from the village of Omagasa, some 100 miles (160 km) east of London. Further north there were several similar areas where control measures will probably be necessary, extending from Trondheim, Brønnøysund and Sandnessjøen east and north to the Samalshavna boundary from Alnäs to Killynary Lake. The rest of the area where we discovered bluetongue the last two years are expected to have only very local outbreaks which might require control measures if the season were dry.

Late King Disliked Show

Did Not Want Publicity About His Private Activities

King George justified ostentation and publicity when his private activities were concerned. The Lord Ponsonby, Keeper of the Privy

Purse told a story only five days before his death which well illustrates this trait.

A certain farm-manager on one of the royal farms bought a bull at a very high price. It swept the boards at all agricultural shows. Finally it was sold at an even higher price.

The King said nothing until the animal had gone. Then one Sunday afternoon, on his usual walk around the farm, he enquired if they had not bought some rather expensive cattle recently.

The farm-manager agreed, but, he added, the bull had many more prizes and had been sold at a good profit.

"Understand this," the king replied. "I form an extraordinary herd and exhibit my beasts in competition with other farmers. They can't pay high prices and neither will I. As few winning prizes by paying large sums for beasts, any Hogenheimer can do that. I won't."

In the pre-movial days there were two kinds of people those who sat on the floor to eat and those who used tables. The former ate out of bowls and the latter out of plates.

While the latter type also was found in the old wooden trunks and they died off at an early age. Over a period of years the trunks could be grown a variety of colors as could be found in any laboratory. The people were poisoned to death and died very rapidly.

At the time of Queen Elizabeth the average life of death was eight years the speaker declared Europe's populations remained stationary for more than 1,000 years until the invention of alcohol in the last 40

Popular Weather Lore

Opinion Of Meteorologist Is That
It Won't Snow

That bit of news about Marsh stealing is like a bomb and roaring out like a lion. Meteorologist William H. Alexander of Columbus, Ohio, said it is in the same category with a dozen or more popular weather signs.

"But you can't make a lot of people believe those examples of folklore are absolutely valid in determining what the weather will be a week, a month, or a year hence," Alexander said.

"That the moon causes or even influences weather changes."

"That weather for a season is determined by the kind of weather that happens to prevail on any certain calendar day."

"That the character of a coming season can be determined by the behavior of animals, the thickness of fur grown by animals, or the thickness of bark on trees."

"That any one has yet found a new method of forecasting the weather a year ahead, or of producing rain artificially."

Plant Breeders Are Working To Improve Varieties

One of the most important results accomplished by the National Barley Committee, of the National Agriculture Council of Canada, is the improvement of varieties of barley. The committee, which held its annual meeting in Toronto from March 11th to 13th inclusive has been the co-ordinator of the work of all those interested and engaged in the improvement, breeding and marketing of Canadian barley. A notable example of this is that the plant breeders and seed growers are now directly representing the breeder in the testing of new varieties. These tests are being made throughout the Prairie Provinces and in Eastern Canada.

The committee also has a sub-committee that reviews the present situation in the industry, and makes recommendations. The statement disclosed that 95 per

Young People Present Play
Before Good Houses

The big test of last week was the staging of "The Domes in the Dark" by the Young People of the First United Church.

Unfortunately read conditions made a country audience present, and the play was not the success it had been.

It was a difficult play, well staged and dramatized, and we take our hats off to those who were responsible for it.

Young People Present Play
Before Good Houses

The big test of last week was the staging of "The Domes in the Dark" by the Young People of the First United Church.

Unfortunately read conditions made a country audience present, and the play was not the success it had been.

It was a difficult play, well staged and dramatized, and we take our hats off to those who were responsible for it.

Well done, Young folks!

Remarkable Fact Proved

Astronomers Find Lead Masses Are Struck by Meteor's Action

Whole continents are stricken by as much as 50 feet when the mass of a certain part of the earth's surface is displaced by the action of the repulsive changes snap back and are pulled out of shape 50 feet in the other direction.

This remarkable fact has just been observed by astronomers at the Mauthausen observatory co-operating by means of radio with astronomers in the observatories of Moscow in Germany and Bordeaux in France.

From accurate observations taken on the varying time lag in the reception of time signals they concluded that the gravitational force of the mass is brought into the hemisphere of Europe and Asia in a sort of movement which they describe as a sort of cosmic delivery.

Now for the drama of mass and energy are affected by the same movement, a not unimportant but still scientists are slowly discovering the enormous influence of the mass of living things

A Persian physician has collected statistics to show that the highest number of births occur when the moon is near the horizon.

Investigators in different countries have proved that certain sea animals, and particularly sea urchins, are always plumper at full moon.

In Britain the ministry of agriculture and fisheries has proved the best catches of herring may always be expected at full moon. The same is true of the generally accepted fact that a full moon in the second week in October.

There are two possible explanations of this.

The greater degree of moonlight may attract the shoals to the surface, or the movement of the water caused by the moon may affect trillions of the myriads of tiny creatures and which form the food of herring and other fish.

At the moment research is in progress to trace the connection between the moon and weather and between the moon and the growth of plants.

Some scientists think that the age-long belief that moonlight is a cause of lunacy may be capable of scientific proof.

Bad Numbers in Aquarium

Station of London Sea Life Sanctuary

Some very queer fish fishes are to be seen in the London Sea Aquarium are attracting attention because of their bad manners. They are called suffer stars and come from the south of Madagascar.

At first sight these strange starfish appear to be ordinary com-

though they are very fat and equ and look as though a good course
"stimulating" would do them go

They are of an olive-brown complexion, pleasantly looking, with dark eyes but showing their lack of intelligence in their smart, their manners quite the reverse.

As soon as visitors begin to tire, notice of them the puffier fish comes nearer, and squirt or spit water at them. Having got rid of the mouthful, they dive down for more, returning quickly to the surface to spit out this new supply in the crude manner.

The puffier fish liberates itself by puffing itself out until it is as round as a small globe, and it does this in order to scare away other fish, though the latter do not seem to be the least alarmed by such strategy, "going on."

Would Not Need Much

The officers of a small church in the country applied to C. H. Byrgeon for a minister, but the only one they were prepared to pay was small, that in reply to their request he wrote: "The only individuals I know who could exist on such a stipend is the angel Gabriel, who would need neither cash nor cloth, and he could come down from heaven every Sunday morning and go back at night, so I advise you to hire him."

Production of wheat in India has often surpassed that of Canada, but India exports only a small proportion of her total output.

The Canadian government for the commemoration of the Confederation of 1867 says a writer in the New York World Telegram. A complete list of wheat exports from 1867 to 1900, ranging in value from one cent to twelve cents but it is the supplementary special delivery stamp that tells us so much about the country north of the United States.

The stamp as a whole represents the state of wheat in 1867, the year of the Confederation.

It was the 26 per cent shrinkage of U.S. exports and the steady growth of U.S. imports that worried the Canadians. Rumors have been afloat since the war that the U.S. would use its economic power to force a most important concession suddenly appearing as a larger export of wheat, barley and oats in 1930, and again in 1931, and then relegating it to a position of minor importance.

Except for two years between 1935 and 1936, Canada was the leading supplier of wheat to the British market. In 1939 Argentina and in

The "spin" of light, that is, the twisting force of which its rays exert on anything solid, a scientist feared never done before, is announced by Dr. Richard A. Beth of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Massachusetts. The light, he says, is a singular monadism, meaning that its particles, or photons, of light are capable of spinning like a speeding rifle bullet. This spin had been only

This stunt was revealed by an official of an important bank victimized by the perpetrators, who have been arrested. Two persons, commonly operating as a double business, opened a check or account and deposited $100,000. Within five minutes the bank had refunded to $25,000 making the difference in person and getting the bank the local balance. The two persons appeared, acting in such a partnership about in the amount of $20,000. The teller recognized the signature, checked it and then as it customary and the teller was to determine whether a withdrawal was made was on hand.

Consequently the other partner appeared at another teller's window acting in cash to $100,000. This latter also used the telegraphic and the official support to verify "Okay, okay," I told you. It's all right." The law was more than $27,000. New York Post

To start the "factory" going, the doctors would obtain some marrow from someone's collapse, inject it into the tube with a syringe, force a mixture of gas through the jelly and the marrow and then place in the tube in a warm water bath beside the "factory." that lengthens his life more than courtesy from male drivers," says C.P.R. engineer Trevor Wright. Mr. Wright stopped down from the cab of his engine for the last time, after 47 years of railroading. He plans to spend his retirement with his head on the back of a reclining pad instead of an engine throttle. He spoke with warm approval of the "Try Courtesy" campaign recently launched by Hon. T. McQueen, Ontario Minister of Highways.

"Driving a locomotive is child's play compared to outgunning shore-off motorists who dash up to a level crossing at full speed and jam on their brakes a second or two before the train whizzes by, as though they were two-fisted heroes in an old-time movie serial." Mr. Wright remarked.

Mr Wright has had plenty of time to study the actions of drivers, from the ho-dustered and be-goggled old-timer to the bucking, chugging "huckston carriage", to the modern motorist in his air-conditioned, knee-action "house-haul-on-wheels", he concluded.

"The driver that warns every engineer's heart," he said, "is the one who comes up to a crossing slowly and carefully, signals that he is making a full stop well before the train approaches, and waits to give us a cheery wave."

Recently he has been making the Toronto-Hamilton run, but in his 20 years in the engine cab he has driven on nearly every section of the line. He drove the first engine over the Toronto to Sudbury section of the C.P.R. when it was opened in 1907.

"Last year at railroad crossings in Ontario," Mr. Wright stated, "there were 123 accidents and 34 people lost their lives. It wouldn't take very much courtesy, care and common sense to eliminate this terrible toll entirely.

"And always remember," he concluded with a gruff smile, "there isn't an engineer on the road who wouldn't sooner give a cherry than

F. I. McDougall presided at the meeting at which 19 countries are represented including Canada, the United States and Argentina, three Augustin Edwards, Chilean ambassador in London, opened the debate. He said if new crops in the southern hemisphere were about average in size, it appeared probable that world wheat stocks in August, 1937 would be of only normal proportions of roughly about 450,000,000 bushels less than the peak reached in August, 1934.

Edwards said, however, that at the present level of consumption the danger of reaccumulation of burdensome wheat surpluses had not been averaged but merely postponed.

Emphasizing that to increase the consumption of wheat seemed a policy that would enlist the sympathies of both producers and consumers, Edwards suggested that the committee should start an inquiry to ascertain the possibilities of creating an international revolving wheat reserve. He proposed that he controlled and financed by an international body and that its members be drawn up from time to time to meet the needs of regions and countries which could not afford to pay current commercial prices.

If the committee decided to study the proposal Edwards suggested three things:

1. The possibility that an international organization such as that

2 The probability of financing such a wheel reserve through an international institution such as the bank for international settlements;

A Satisfactory assurance that the reserves would be used solely for the purpose of relieving grave emergencies and satisfying a demand which could not be made effective because of lack of purchasing power under normal conditions.

The delegates generally welcomed the proposal. The chairman said if Large portions of western North America have always been subject to drought. The record has been written in the trunks of trees and, in the plains regions, in the soil itself. Scientists are inclined to the conclusion, that contrary to popular belief the climate is not changing, but rather runs in cycles. After a period of unusually high rainfall, a certain area experiences a severe drought.

Most babies do not sit at birth until approximately a year old.

The child also has another distinctive feature: a very large hair-cut.

When grufled he is able to walk.

Bunshine Mac never has been ill, and it is believed his special diet will help him to escape the usual children's diseases.

The American Medical Association has agreed to accept the child's diet and habits and make a report on them.

Education And The Teacher

For people living upon periods of depression such as Western Canada, the experience in the past few years, living with most of the other countries of the world in varying degrees, has been a hard one. On the contrary, however, such experience was usually regarded by the great majority as periods of unadmitted evil, with demeritization and unmet their needs.

It is customary, under such conditions, to surround everything with a halo of gloom. Everything is wrong at all times. The criticism which has been subjected to criticism in an intensive search for microcosmic flaws and mistakes are piled with dark, underlying suspicion. Altruism and faith in future mankind almost appear to have been taken into question and the whole stream of life seems to be riddled with turpitude. Altruism is the order of the day.

Crutism if the right type and with the proper motive behind it has, of course, its place in the scheme of things. In fact, without it, there could be little if any progress, but if it is to be all its expected role in life, it must have behind it a sincere desire to promote betterment and must be dictated by reasons rather than swayed by blind passion.

The educational system and educational methods in operation in the present provinces are among the many things which have had to run the course of the critical years of the world. The criticism which has, in the past years, been voiced freely at conventions, school board sessions, public meetings and during election campaigns in the home and on the street seems not only from parents of children attending institutions and the general public but also from educational institutions, teachers and others trained in the craft of pedagogy.

One lesson, on the one hand, that the educational system is too expensive and too extravagant. On the other hand, governments and trustees are accused of penny-pinching. One day the people are told that, in effect, the educational system and set-up is lagging behind the times and the following day, that it is too far advanced for the requirements of present day social conditions and requirements.

As to methods, curricula, equipment and text books, criticisms are legion and varied, so much so, in fact, that it would take a ponderous tome to even list them.

While it may be very difficult, and perhaps impossible to crystallize all these opinions and criticisms into a single coherent view which might enable them to be attacked and dealt with on a sensible basis, the nature of so much discussion on such an important topic demonstrates, at least, that the depression is having the beneficial effect of arousing a better interest in a topic of vital interest to the future welfare of the country, because it cannot be denied that the trend of education of the youth of this world will largely determine the future of the nation tomorrow.

Because of this it is highly important that there should be some indication of majority opinion on educational systems, methods and results. There are one or two things which should not be lost sight of in this vital discussion which, unfortunately, require some very common sense, twenty trivial details. That is, in the main purposes of educational systems, which might best be summarized as the instruction of developing a desirable type of citizen and of developing a citizen capable of fitting himself or herself into the life of the community.

This means the development of a type of people with character and ability to think and act for themselves. If this is borne in mind as the chief objective of education, the first impression of the character and ability of the teacher becomes of the greatest importance. The teacher's greater importance than the method, the text book, or the curriculum, or the greater importance than the type of school in which instruction is carried on or the equipment that is used in carrying out the instruction.

The statement is not made with any intention of conveying an impression that the teacher is the worst of all professions, but it is a fact, and one that is well known, that the teacher is the most important person in the school, and that the teacher is the one who is responsible for the success or failure of the school.

Power On The Farm

The industry under the sun has greater, more numerous and more varied problems haunting it than has agriculture. However, perhaps, are these problems more difficult of solution than in Western Canada, because of the immense scope of the country and vast variation in seasonal and soil conditions, and by no means least of these problems is the power question for the farm.

A few years ago the introduction and popularization of large scale power machinery for farms was in the province, gave rise to a highly controversial topic usually designated, "The Horse versus the Tractor." Many farmers attached themselves to one of two camps, those who favored horses as the motive power on the farm and those who regarded the tractor as the one and only form of power worth while for field operations.

The controversy of the times raged with bitterness and threatened to become an open feud. Calgary was the scene of a series of debates, with great vigor and even personal abuse, and the subject was discussed, of farm power was accused of trampling to the one side or the other. For some years it looked as though the advantage of power machinery was in the ascendancy and it was even freely predicted that the time was not far off when the horse would be as extinct as the prehistoric dodo, and perhaps for a few years that was proved to be an exaggeration.

However, which appeared to be bettering on the horse through the passage of time, re-appeared here, partly because, the most other things, it gradually dawned on the general consciousness that there were two sides to the question and that neither one nor the other was wholly right or entirely wrong. Changing conditions, which have a habit of occurring in a non-stop world, revealed that what might be true under certain conditions at a given time, it was not appropriate under the same, or other conditions, at some other time. In agriculture, as in most other spheres there is no law of the Mosaic and Ptolemaic.

And at this juncture, it might be not inappropriate to remark that the solution of the reason why farming is a hazardous enterprise and requires, in addition to a knowledge of risk, a considerable amount of money, ability and good judgment, to ensure a successful outcome of the venture.

But to "return to my subject," it must be generally recognized to-day that both the horse and the tractor have their place in the agricultural world at the present period and both are likely to have a useful purpose to serve for many years to come.

The fact has recently been brought to the attention of the Agricultural Engineering of the University of Saskatchewan, acknowledged as one of the foremost authorities in the west on the subject, is a writer at Bellevue in Ontario.

Professor Harty pointed out that under certain conditions horses are indispensable and he was not to be deceived by power driven machines, but also to use them. He also pointed out that in some sections of the country where soil and other conditions are such that the horse would find it almost impossible to carry on work, even at the present time.

There are other conditions which types of power are best suited to in particular. The horse is a creature of habit and the tractor is a creature of habit. The horse is a creature of habit and the tractor is a creature of habit. The horse is a creature of habit and the tractor is a creature of habit.

Tobacco For British Market

Largest Shipment Yet From The Province

Present prospects are that approximately 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco will be exported from Canada to the British Isles in 1932 for Christmas, most of which will be from the Great Prairie Province, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The first shipment of Canadian tobacco to the British market for the Christmas trade was made in 1928, when over 500,000 pounds of tobacco were shipped to the United Kingdom, the largest shipment of Canadian tobacco to the British market to date.

Tobacco raising has developed into a substantial industry in Canada in recent years. Of this year's export movement it is expected that Manitoba will supply the largest percentage. The shipments for export will be of high quality, and will be of a type which is in demand in the British market.

While the principal development in tobacco raising in the past few years has been in Western Canada, particularly in Manitoba, tobacco has also been raised in Ontario and Quebec, and in the United States. The tobacco raised in the United States is of a type which is in demand in the British market.

For some years it looked as though the advantage of power machinery was in the ascendancy and it was even freely predicted that the time was not far off when the horse would be as extinct as the prehistoric dodo, and perhaps for a few years that was proved to be an exaggeration.

However, which appeared to be bettering on the horse through the passage of time, re-appeared here, partly because, the most other things, it gradually dawned on the general consciousness that there were two sides to the question and that neither one nor the other was wholly right or entirely wrong. None Finer Made

Equitability In Debt Adjustment

With governments, boards of adjudication and arbitration and organizations innumerable all imbued with different ideas as to the proper method of deferring the accumulated indebtedness of farmers in the prairie provinces, generally referred to as debt adjustment, in an extraordinary consistent manner.

It is not intended any less so because the problem is actually met by a multiplicity of tribunals with varying degrees of equity and with none of it, and in the view of the fact that the human element is a very important factor in struggling out the tangled affairs of the debtors on a reasonable basis and at the same time to the satisfaction of the creditors.

The large number of debts involved, the wide variations in the nature and extent of the agricultural production, the necessity in some cases of the greatest degree of circumstances and conditions under which the debtors have been and still are operating, the wide range in the capacity and ability of the land to produce, and on other factors, compel to prevent the plan of debt adjustment on a mathematically scientific basis and for this reason decisions of tribunals and some agreements made on a voluntary basis may not always appear on the face of them, to be equitable when compared with other devices and other agreements.

Where voluntary adjustments are made by mutual consent of debtor and creditor, either directly or through the mediation of a board, the question of equitability is not an important consideration, so long as the two parties involved can reach a decision satisfactory to both, the former are of no concern to any other person.

In whatever the form of a new agreement are imposed on debtor and creditor by a tribunal armed with enforcement authority, the question remains a difficult one. Under such circumstances, while as far as the actual agreements cannot be made to comply with any rigid mathematical formulae for the reasons set forth, every effort should be made to maintain fundamental principles of justice and equity, and to make the possible approximation to equitability.

Some, perhaps all of the best of the operating in the three provinces have already announced principles involving in the direction to which they are prepared to follow as to equity as a consideration problem. They have announced that the chief objective of their decisions is to keep the farmer on the land and make him as secure as possible. From this it follows that they have considered the fundamental principle of justice and equity, and to make the possible approximation to equitability.

The Federal Board in Saskatchewan, however, has gone even further and has announced that after the total amount of its total mortgage indebtedness in its report has been determined, new agreements will be made for a ten year period providing for repayment of principal and interest on the basis of a maximum interest rate of five per cent, with provision for extension of the term of the agreement. The Federal Board in Saskatchewan, however, has gone even further and has announced that after the total amount of its total mortgage indebtedness in its report has been determined, new agreements will be made for a ten year period providing for repayment of principal and interest on the basis of a maximum interest rate of five per cent, with provision for extension of the term of the agreement.

Whether or not the precise terms outlined meet general approval, the effort to provide for some measure of uniformity of general debt adjustment provision is a step in the right direction and should stimulate policies to be adopted by the boards in the provinces of Alberta and Manitoba, so as to be situated they are likely to be, a further step forward in the direction of equitability will have been made.

Recently the United Farmers of Canada suggested that some provision should be made for appeal from decisions of the Boards of Review but if the general principles and policies which have been promulgated, at least by the Board in Saskatchewan, are followed as closely as varying circumstances permit, it is reasonable to assume that such appeals for the right of appeal will presently diminish.

If it is generally admitted degree of equitability can be made effective in the decision of the respective boards, and if debtors and creditors will approach negotiations under voluntary conditions in a spirit of reasonableness such that the deficiency of debt adjustment will be unacceptably diminished and that of the underlying issues resolved.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rogers

About two hundred citizens from the town and district attended a "farværd" dance in honor of Mr and Mrs. A. H. Brown.

The dance was sponsored by the Town Council, School Board and various organizations in which Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, were active members one time or another during their residence here.

The dancers all forming two large circles, sang for "They're Jelly Good Fellows" after which Mayor W. A. Graham, made an address to the

MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS

Nominations for three vacancies on the Town Council, and School Board, and Mayorship, will take place on Monday morning in the Town Hall at 10 o'clock.

Nominations and elections now a matter that should receive our deepest thought, as the future is very much at stake. There are three vacancies on the Town Council, and one on the School Board. It is our duty to elect men of high character and ability to represent the taxpayers.

There are obligations in connection with the above offices and every aspirant should consider well the responsibility before accepting such a responsible position.

The next Council and School Board are bound to have many important matters to deal with and will have to be on their toes if they intend to keep the mill rate anywhere near where it is at the present time.

The business during the past year has been done in an economical manner according to the report published last week, and therefore the present Council deserves thanks for the careful work they have given and the time voluntarily given, which is not always appreciated as it should be by the taxpayers.

Democracy Fights for Its Life

One of the saddest spectacles of the day is the ravaging of the Spanish democracy. It is the greatest democracy of the world—the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States of America—stand by while Fascist and Nazi dictators hurl their bombs against these people defending democracy to the limits of their strength. Democracy is struggling for its right to live. The outcome of the struggle now going on in Spain may determine the chance for democracy to live anywhere. Free assembly, free speech and a free press are already things of the past in a great portion of Europe. Every victory of dictatorship is a further threat to freedom wherever it flag is still unfurled.

A Doubtful Link of Property

Some of the silver-tongued orators now busily engaged in telling audiences and those that property has definitely turned the corner might well ponder on the fact that 500,000 private people are on relief this winter. It is absolute nonsense for anyone to make the assertion that Canada can be prosperous under any condition. The picture presented, under normal conditions, a flow of purchasing power which supports industrial production in the eastern provinces and keeps the nation's great manufacturing system on a profitable operating basis. Choke that flow of purchasing power to a practically dried-up condition and the very foundations of national prosperity are destroyed.

Property should not be gauged by corporation dividends, export income, income tax returns, or the market value of stocks and bonds, but by the ability of the masses to purchase the things necessary in their sustenance, comfort, health and general well-being.

Restricted ability to purchase and general prosperity cannot be bedfellows in any capacity.

Good Faith—and a Good Name!

Money—the financial resources of small inventors—was hoarded in Alberta in good faith, and at a time when the province needed help. Should we break faith with them, our fellow-citizens? Shall we not rather preserve our good name of being "square dealers"? Shall we not rather build up this bond between the integrity and honesty which we, without doubt, the best policy?

Alberta is a great province, with wonderful natural resources. The development of these resources offers a bright future. This outlook has been hampered by ill-considered legislation aimed to "snatch the rich" but which is really hating the little fellows.

A prominent Canadian, who, by the way, is a successful Western farmer, declared that the dispute was recently raised by the Alberta Government had, quite naturally, damaged public and, to a certain extent, private credit; but he felt that the active common sense and judgment of the vast majority of Albertans would soon nullify because they know that financial integrity and financial honesty are always the best policy.

This statement is one of a series written by The Honorable James Macdonald, Minister of the Interior, in connection with the dispute between the Government and the farmers. It is a statement of the Honorable Minister's opinion. It is not a statement of the Honorable Minister's belief.

Reduction In World Stocks Of Grain Is Striking Feature Of World's Wheat Situation

The reduction in world stocks of wheat from the high levels prevailing from 1920 to 1932 is probably the striking feature of the wheat situation. The Agricultural Research and Extension Service of the United States has estimated that the 1932-33 world stocks of wheat are only one-third of what they were in 1920-21. This is a striking feature of the wheat situation, and it is one that is of great importance to the world's wheat producers and consumers.

The wheat which harvest in 1933 is estimated to be about 1,000,000,000 bushels, or about 10 percent less than the 1920-21 harvest. This is a striking feature of the wheat situation, and it is one that is of great importance to the world's wheat producers and consumers.

Wasting A National Asset

Health money is being spent and a vast quantity of fish is being utilized in efforts to improve the quality of livestock and the produce of plant life, the better to serve the demand for a high standard of commensurate, but what of the efforts that are being made to raise the physical standard of the human race to a commensurate degree?

Here the governments of the country and that which the people themselves contribute to a consideration of the importance of health as a national asset.

Has the time yet arrived when legislation, expenditure and action may be justified as an incentive of the health and life of a human being any more important than those of a valuable cow?

The answer to such questions is at least open to debate under the results are uncovered, for the weight of evidence bears strong support to the statement that the health of the human race is deteriorating and that, although the medical men, it is deteriorating, that the process has been going on since the beginning of time and that the rate has not been in the other direction, despite medical advances in the realm of medical science at present times.

Professor Wallace says: "For 5,000 years man has been steadily going back to the stone age." Professor Tredgold, English expert on Race Degeneration says: "The race is growing weaker." It is really in being kept by the life we lead and by being wasteful of the human factor available, to all and that humanity has increased 600 per cent in 50 years." Professor Jackson of Liverpool University says: "We are degenerating."

All these and many other outstanding authorities on both sides of the Atlantic are quoted by Sir George O. Patten in the current issue of Health, official organ of the British League of Nations.

And yet the reader should remember that these statistics are applicable only to the British Isles and the United States. Mr. Patten points out that, physically the Chinese are stronger than we, 141,239 were eliminated physically in mass pangs and that quite recently only seven per cent of 13,000 Chinese conscripts in a Chinese army were perfect in health, being both and heart action.

As to the authorities mentioned are quoted by Mr. Patten that he has little opportunity for doubt that the human race is degenerating physically in this continent as well as on the other side of the Atlantic. The progressive civilization of such a condition as these authorities reveal most ultimately terminates in extinction there can be little doubt, and in the light of rapidly advancing knowledge of the human factor, recent discoveries in the art of diagnosis and the science of medical treatment, one can only wonder why and how long people will be content to suffer all kinds of ills and losses beneath the human factor and only dream of being able to gain or retain the greatest measure of happiness to be found in stamper, vigor and all round physical well-being.

The declining tendency in the state of physical condition in this country, the show of the automobile, the increasing tendency to live on highly refined and dehydrated foodstuffs and increasing availability of human factors are the factors which lead to human degeneracy.

One would not then be a student of physics by handling laboratory equipment or by eliminating the automobiles of today and the automobiles of tomorrow, but if it were possible to go back to the stone age, one would find that the human race is degenerating physically in this continent as well as on the other side of the Atlantic.

It is quite apparent that for many the solution of the problem lies more in the future than in the past. The human factor is degenerating, and in a worse aspect today. Exercise, fresh air, natural food, sufficient sleep, and moderation in all things are the factors which lead to the maintenance of a healthy body, the prime cause of human happiness.

Letter To The Editor

The Record takes no responsibility for any opinions expressed by correspondents. Letters not exceeding 300 words are invited from readers.

Fort Saskatchewan, April 21st.

Dear Sir:

Sometime ago I read a report in your paper to the effect that at a joint meeting of the teachers and school board it was decided to purchase a motion picture machine. At the time I thought it an excellent idea and I was glad to think that we had such progressive minded persons looking after our children. A report in your school however made me change my mind. Personally I think the very best to be expended would be used in the form of greater advantage in the partial renovation of the building. I feel heartily sorry for the teachers and school who work for two months of the year in a gross atmosphere and surroundings similar to Dickens' famous Dickens' Hall. What wonders a few cases of varnish, a few boxes of paint and a few coats of paint could work. I don't know how long it is the ceiling, walls very painted or varnished, but I do know that they have become so faded and spotted that they have to be repainted every year. I am sure towards the support of this school as well as being personally interested in its welfare I suggest that the money which has been loaned to the school be used to redecorate the schoolhouse and then if finances will permit buy the machine.

Yours, Tappan.

What wonders a few cases of varnish, a few boxes of paint and a few coats of paint could work. I don't know how long it is the ceiling, walls very painted or varnished, but I do know that they have become so faded and spotted that they have to be repainted every year. I am sure towards the support of this school as well as being personally interested in its welfare I suggest that the money which has been loaned to the school be used to redecorate the schoolhouse and then if finances will permit buy the machine.

Dear Sir:

Sometime ago I read a report in your paper to the effect that at a joint meeting of the teachers and school board it was decided to purchase a motion picture machine. At the time I thought it an excellent idea and I was glad to think that we had such progressive minded persons looking after our children. A report in your school however made me change my mind. Personally I think the very best to be expended would be used in the form of greater advantage in the partial renovation of the building. I feel heartily sorry for the teachers and school who work for two months of the year in a gross atmosphere and surroundings similar to Dickens' famous Dickens' Hall. At twelve o'clock noon, on Monday June 7th, 1937, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wade of Parkdale, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their youngest daughter Violet Mae was united in marriage to Mr. John Robert Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Todd of Denville, Alberta.

Rev. D. W. Parks of Good Hope officiated.

The bride was beautifully dressed in blue tulle, and wore a flowing veil of tulle held in place by a silver and beaded headband. Her bridesmaid, Miss Bonnie Todd sister of the groom, wore white silk with lace trimmings.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at about twenty-five guests.

An enjoyable time was had. The bride and groom were taken to the bride's home at Denville.

A Great Menace

The automobile agent acted in a great manner on the highway but he had the greatest enemy of danger to the car and the driver of the open road.

The man who drives at night with one light behind and the other in front, the automobile agent, is the greatest enemy of the highway, not only to himself and other occupants of the car but to the safety of the highway and the occupants of other automobiles. The driver of the automobile who is not careful of his lights is a menace to the highway, not only to himself and other occupants of the car but to the safety of the highway and the occupants of other automobiles.

The one-light driver is dangerous to the highway, because the "other" driver is unable to tell whether the light is on the right or left side of the approaching car. It is dangerous to the highway, because it is turning the driver meeting him may be misled and make unnecessary allowance for clearance. The result is a heavy loss of money and property.

The natural instinct of the "other" driver meeting a one-light car is to turn the other side of the road to avoid the car. This is the only way to avoid the car, but it is a dangerous move, because it is a move that is not only to the driver of the one-light car but to the driver of the other car.

There may confusion on the one-light driver is a danger to others as well as to himself, but particularly in the case when one traveling in the same direction are passing one another with a single lamp car appearing in the opposite direction.

Thousands at night are deceived even to the most experienced drivers. When both lights are burning it is not so easy to gauge the distance and speed of an approaching car. To many drivers the incoming car is a menace to the highway, not only to himself and other occupants of the car but to the safety of the highway and the occupants of other automobiles.

The only guide that can be used to gauge the speed of an automobile approaching at night is the apparent distance between the two lamps and the light with which the distance diverges as the car approaches.

At a considerable distance away the two lights of the approaching car appear to be practically merged into one. Observing this, the "other" driver presumes that he has plenty of time to pass a car in front of him, and he is not only deceived but he is also deceived by the light of the car, because the light of the car is not only a danger to the driver of the car but to the driver of the other car.

But, if instead of the approaching car being an automobile with two lights shining at a considerable distance, it is a car with only one light shining close by and approaching at speed, the driver and occupants of the car are in a deadly peril and through no fault of their own, except the operator of the one-light car.

It is probably doubtful whether the operator of a one-light car has any conception of the risks he runs and of the peril that he is to other night travelers on the highway or he would surely not risk on such a small and so serious a crime as to risk the lives of others.

It is to be hoped that the driver of the one-light car is not only a danger to the highway but to the driver of the other car.

There are several, to doubt, when one of a pair of headlights has been extinguished through a glass or other cause, the driver of the car is not only a danger to the highway but to the driver of the other car.

Under these circumstances the operator cannot be held as negligent in the driver who runs forth on a trip, because the driver of the car is not only a danger to the highway but to the driver of the other car.

From the latter, one might be inclined to believe, may be eliminated. From the former, which human skin is here, as a result of some of the more recent discoveries which it is said, much might be gained in the trend of evolution of a repair system for work out.

Adrian here the garden of the town and district produced such a harvest of potatoes as it has never had this year. This coming week should see a real Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. J. K. Smith and Rev. D. H. Brown were here for a couple of days last week in the interests of the British and Foreign Bible Society. Mrs. J. K. Smith told an audience on Tuesday evening that she had published the Bible or parts of the Bible, in one thousand different languages and dialects in the world. The scriptures may be purchased for as little as one cent, this being made possible by the contributions of the people all over the country.

Special Thanksgiving services last Sunday, drew a good attendance to the Grace Church. Rev. L. D. Buchanan marked the occasion by giving an interesting and fitting address.

Perfection of flowers, kindly donated by the Protestant Guild, decorated the church, making an appropriate setting for this annual event.

The Editor will attend the Alberta Weekly Newspaper convention in Edmonton this week-end. However, this will not stop subscribers from getting their subscriptions, as the office will remain open.

Jack Brownfield is trying his hand at Garage work, now being employed by McKenna's garage.

Mr. Ray Wilson, formerly employed at the McKenna Garage has started a truck service between Edmonton and the Fort. He will run daily and secure the public that an early arrival in the Fort each day is the dream.

IT WILL HAPPEN HERE:

Local legislation designed to help a certain class in the community has been passed and the very day it was passed it was being put into effect. It is a matter which has happened with the "Mile Between Ways Act" and the "Industrial Relations Act" as far as the Legislature is concerned. The Legislature who looks after the enactment of these Acts for this district was in Vegreville last week, enacting it on local conditions and found that a large number of young men were receiving less money than the Act made for. The good body was very doing but they did not know but that they had to do so, but they are not sure that these laws will be observed but must that discipline of about a dozen young men in Vegreville.

True is some of these men the men were being employed. In some cases and isolated instances they may not be sufficient to keep them alive—but in other cases they were getting by, perhaps without having but they had a roof over their heads, clothes and plenty of food. Now this particular class is unemployed and most inevitably also to the relief hands. Not only that, but there were in many cases earnings—all they were worth to any other employer.

In some instances they were leaving a trade, but they were not sufficiently skilled at it to be worth anything.

"How long are you in prison for my man?"
"For a month."
"What is the charge?"
"No charge—everything's free."

Will Attend Free Show

Arrangements have been completed for the children's Free show, sponsored by the merchants, later this afternoon.

Two shows, one at 2 p.m. and the other at 4 p.m. will be necessary to accommodate the youngsters. It has been decided that preference will be given to the country children of the first show.

An excellent variety of Moving Picture pictures have been obtained, specially selected for children. All children attending the shows will be only looked after, therefore it will not be necessary for the parents to accompany them. If adults desire to accompany the children, then the regular admission price will prevail.

All children are asked to be on hand sharp at 2 and 4 o'clock, as the show will be started at that time. It will be permitted to see it again. This will give everyone an opportunity of seeing the show.

We hope you enjoy the show.

"I'm surprised at you! Do you know what they say about you?"

"I'm, sir. When they get old enough they find out the most to believe."

Irrigation And Immigration

Two major questions of public policy are at the present time engaging a good deal of attention in Western Canada. Frequent reference being made to them at meetings of organizations and in the news and editorial columns of the daily press. They are the problems of irrigation and immigration.

On the face of it, it may appear that these two questions have little or nothing in common with one another but a little reflection shows that they are in truth so closely related that either action or inaction on one will bring about the same result on the other.

These relationships become apparent when it is remembered that the economic fate of the farmer of the present day is the West and that of the future settler is dependent upon the present or absence of sufficient moisture to ensure the growth of food crops and the industry of stock raising. In the present, the farmer is dependent upon the certainty that the West will enjoy moisture in the future he expects the reverse of drought.

Much of the present day attention to immigration would tend to indicate that if there were some assurance that the most vital question of the future would be solved, a supply of irrigable water in storage for the maximum storage that could be moved from this source in such a manner.

History, as documented by geological data and revealed in the growth of trees over the past 100 or 200 years, has shown that the present moisture has been subject to recurrent periods of drought of varying intensity and duration and that in the past, the present moisture has been subject to recurrent periods of drought of varying intensity and duration. In fact, meteorological and other authorities agree that it is impossible to predict the future of the weather and that the only way to ensure a supply of irrigable water in storage for the maximum storage that could be moved from this source in such a manner is to build a dam.

The dam, however, is not a simple matter. It is a complex engineering problem that requires the services of a dam engineer. The dam engineer is a specialist in the field of civil engineering and is responsible for the design, construction and operation of dams. Testing Time For Radio

Much is likely to be heard of the growing success of Parliament on the subject of the problems of radio broadcasting in Canada and the policies pursued by the federal Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

There is a new possibility to discuss in more detail the direction in which the corporation is going, and to compare the results of its experiments with the results of the experiments of other countries.

There will be conflicting reactions and wide variations of opinion as to the merits or demerits of the various policies. It is to be expected when the new management is a foreigner and when the corporation is a public body, that the results of its experiments will be subject to the scrutiny of the public.

During the discussion likely to ensue frequent reference will undoubtedly be made to the general objectives of the corporation. It is to be expected that the corporation will be asked to provide a service to the public which is of the highest quality and to be of the highest standard.

Rubber Tires On Tractors Proven By Test To Effect Considerable Saving In Fuel

Proven on tractor tests were recently. Thirty on increasing number of tractors are being sold with "Treadless" tires. In 1937, as reported by a well known Canadian publication, over 15,000 sets of "Treadless" tires were sold. Of this total, 1,000 tractors, or 33.3 per cent of the total, were sold at all times.

While many especially designed tractor tires have been developed, they were not widely tested until last year when the Canadian Rubber Manufacturers Association, 1038, states a "Treadless" tire was tested by the Ontario Agricultural Experiment Station, Chatham, Ontario. The test was made on a 13-30 inch tractor which was placed in operation on the Dominion Experimental Station at North Oxbow, Sask. Fuel economy tests were made in 1936, when three loads were made to per acre, with the same tractor on these and on equal loads. The results showed that the treadless tire saved 14 per cent of fuel over the treaded tire. In 1937, when the same tractor was used on the same loads, the treadless tire saved 14 per cent of fuel over the treaded tire. When ploughing, and 25.38 per cent over the treaded tire.

Inequitable Taxation

Opulent and powerful were the arguments recently advanced by Premier Ogden Macdonald of Nova Scotia in support of his advocacy of extension of the income tax to the Dominion of New Brunswick.

Provincial residents in Nova Scotia have been told that this method of taxation would be more equitable and profitable.

The Nova Scotia premier's suggestion was made more particularly applicable to income tax, corporation taxes and inheritance taxes the latter being better levied in the more numerous cities and towns.

On the basis of greater equality of division of taxation proceeds as between the provinces, Premier Macdonald's argument was particularly pertinent in support of his proposal.

The reason for the higher rate of taxation is advanced by the Premier of Ontario and Quebec is not far from what it is pointed out that the best means for raising revenue is by levying property taxes.

On the other hand, the Premier of Nova Scotia has been charged with the statement by Premier Macdonald that the latter has been levying a tax on the basis of the value of the land.

SCHOOL FLASHES

A delegation of High School boys with Bruce Graham as spokesman attended the School Board meeting Monday night. The purpose of this venture was to ask the School Board for the use of some of the Cadet Fund for sports equipment. After a short discussion it was decided that the school could go ahead and buy said necessities, and that the Board would honor the bills, which will be presented to them. In this way, all difficulties which have formerly been so frequently encountered will be eliminated.

It is the purpose of the pupils to replenish the fund with all money earned throughout each term. Thus all financial difficulties will be overcome, and the fund will not be depreciated to any great extent.
